more than a crater filled with water. There was no one there, no evidence of eons gone by, it was the most idyllic place you could imagine. The owner, who for whatever reason, had taken great enjoyment in its beauty decided to build a luxury hotel on the shore of the lake. He knew that from here he could command magnificent views of the Aktau city to the south and the unfinished city of Baku to the north. He hired some of the best architects available to design the hotel where the lake would be the centrepiece, he had a magnificent pool built, each of its tiles were hand crafted, the furniture was hand selected, the rooms were decorated in luxury, and the suites were to be some of the finest rooms in the Baku. One day, all this was on the verge of becoming a reality, when he received a letter from someone who had been involved in the plans to the lake, but due to some misunderstanding had walked away, never to be seen again. The hotel was a dream to build, he was an engineer who could not be denied as the man who could make it reality, but he needed the final stones to be put in place, they had been left in the care of many hands, and each of them had an opinion on what should be done. The letter from the architect began with exclamation marks and a tone of excitement. It went on to complain about the fact that a plan was being prepared based on land that did not belong to him. “Our lives were taken away from us, robbed but i wish you could set up random opponents and make a custom game which could last any length of time. We've got that in games like Fifa and other games like that. Also i have seen a lot of other reviews on this game and there are a lot of problems with it. No servers for multiplayer? Can't play multiplayer locally? No online coop or co-op? Crazy glitches of the game to my mind. However, the game is very nice, except the lack of multiplayer. The problem I had was the "frequent disconnects." It would happen at the worst possible time: during my matches. The software bugs are minor, like really minor, so I can't fault it at all. From what I've read, there are much better games for $10. The developers need to work on the networking issues. I'd buy it again if the servers were stable. p.s. The music in the game is absolutely terrible. I'd rather have nothing than listen to this crap. Really only got points for the unique gameplay and the odd choices in design and mission types. I've played most of these and the game a bit, not bad but not that good. There is no multiplayer, which is a bit odd (the first game in this series had an online mode), and some of the original content is removed (a scratchpad and a few other features). The rest of the game is standard, which is a bit odd considering most of the games are some kind of RTS. Also, music is not included. You have to pay for the songs separately, which is a problem when you have three or four
